

THE 15 MOST COMMON EMPLOYEE BENEFIT PLAN AUDIT ERRORS

Errors, omissions and timing mistakes made in your annual Employee Benefit Plan Audit can result in significant penalties. We can help you avoid these problems. Among the most prevalent mistakes we find when conducting Employee Benefit Plan Audits are:

1. Late remittance of employee deferrals including loan repayments withheld from employees
2. Not having amendments signed in a timely manner
3. The plan document and summary plan description (SPD) do not match (HINT: If they don't, Plan Document should always supersede the SPD)
4. Plan document has not been kept up to date
5. Signed trust document is missing or not up-to-date (For example, the original trustees signing the document may no longer be working for the company)
6. Definition of compensation errors (For example, not deferring bonus compensation)
7. Not having written election from a participant if they choose to exclude deferral on a bonus check (A verbal request is not enough)
8. Improper determination of eligible and ineligible employees (This is especially common following a merger or acquisition)
9. Incorrect plan entry dates (This is usually due to improper counting of hours of service)
10. Loan inconsistencies, such as granting more loans than the plan document allows
11. Not having proper documentation for hardships distributions
12. Following a hardship distribution, not halting deferrals for the participant for 6 months
13. Employer match issues (For example, if the sponsor does not want to make a matching contribution in a plan year, the Plan Document must first be amended to read matching contributions are "discretionary")
14. Discrimination testing failures are not addressed in a timely manner, or not at all (The sponsor cannot favor one group of employees over another)
15. Failure to recognize partial plan termination (This can easily occur if the sponsor has layoffs or other reduction in force issues)
